STRAIGHT TALK FOR REPUBLICANS

Progressives Claim They Are Being Shelved by Old Liners

San Francisco, Aug. 19.—Factional differences among California Republicans and Progressives faced Charles E. Hughes when he arrived here yesterday afternoon for a five days' tour of the state. Governor Hughes has no desire to become involved in the controversies caused by the senatorial campaign of Governor

PURE, RICH BLOOD MADE BY HOOD'S

Pure blood enables the stomach, liver and other digestive organs to do their work properly. Without it they are sluggish, there is loss of appetite, sometimes faintness, a deranged state of the intestines, and, in general, all the symptoms of dyspepsia.

Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood, and this is why it is so very successful in the treatment of so many ailments. Get it to-day.—Adv.

Johnson and Willis Booth and the alleged refusal of Republican leaders to co-operate with Progressive leaders, except a hand-picked few. It is possible, however, that before Hughes leaves California certain leaders will be given to understand what's what so far as the presidential campaign is concerned, a private talk much the same as the one that straightened out the Thompson-likes factions in Illinois. One matter that will be investigated is the report that Governor Johnson and Chester Rowell, a member of the Hughes campaign committee, have been ignored in the arrangements for the Hughes meetings in California.

Republicans brought their stories to Hughes before he left Portland. A score boarded the train there and got the nominee's ear as frequently as they could. Seventy-five more, who left San Francisco Thursday night in two special cars, met the campaign train at Gerber yesterday morning and came through to this city with the party. Hughes made several rear platform speeches at small towns before arriving here. Many San Francisco residents met the nominee at the station.

Yesterday's program included an afternoon reception at the Union League club, a talk to San Francisco women an hour later at his hotel, an address at the Civic auditorium last night, and later a reception at the Newspapermen's club.

Interest centered in the big public meeting last night, over which W. F. Crocker, national committeeman, was selected to preside.

A written protest against the plan to entertain and banquet Mr. Hughes at the Commercial club, which is displaying an open shop card in its dining room, has been made by the striking San Francisco Culinary Workers' union to Francis V. Keeling, chairman of the Republican state central committee.

"We would request that some arrangement be made to entertain Mr. Hughes in a manner that will not constitute an affront to organized labor of San Francisco," the protest read in part.

Shortly after the calling of the strike the Commercial club made its open shop stand. It was said to be too late to make any change in the plans for the banquet.

It is said that this is the greatest year that baseball ever knew, but anyone would have a hard time to make Connie Mack and the Cincinnati board of directors think that it is true.

FRENCH GENERAL PRAISES AMERICAN AMBULANCE MEN

Section Seven Cited for Conspicuous
Bravery and Service in the Field
—Several Wounded.

Paris, Aug. 19.—Section seven of the American ambulance field service is cited by General Mangin in an army corps order just issued for its services to the division of the French army to which it is attached. This portion of the order reads:

"This section of the American ambulance field service has shown for more than 20 months a most complete spirit of sacrifice and has rendered greatest services to the division to which it is attached in assuring the removal of the wounded under best conditions. There is not one of its members who is not a model of coolness and abnegation. A number of them have been wounded."

COAL NOW COMING FROM ALASKA FIELDS

Opening of New Territory Means Cheap er Fuel for Northwest, Says
Secretary Lane.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The government's Alaskan railroad now is carrying coal from the Matanuska fields to the harbor at Anchorage. Secretary Lansing announced yesterday that the first coal train was moved Aug. 16 from Goose Creek over the new line.

"The opening of these fields," he said yesterday, "announcing the event, is regarded as most important, valuable both to Alaska and the Pacific Northwest. It means cheaper fuel for that general country, and it is confidently predicted that it will be followed by industrial and mining expansion."

I. W. W. HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR TWO EXPLOSIONS

Boarding-House Wrecked Near Biwabik, Minn.—Home of Man Who Refused to Strike Damaged.

Biwabik, Minn., Aug. 19.—An explosion which early yesterday wrecked a boardinghouse in which were 10 persons, at the Biwabik mine location, near here, is laid by the authorities at the door of the Industrial Workers of the World. No one was injured. The I. W. W. leaders, it is charged, had threatened the miners with death if they did not quit work. One member of the I. W. W. is held on suspicion.

Another explosion, which the authorities also charge to the I. W. W., occurred near Hibbing. The entire front of the house of John Smith, hoisting engineer at the Philbin mine, was torn away. Smith, with his wife and five children, were in the rear of the house and were uninjured. Smith refused to strike recently when I. W. W. members demanded it, and has received several threatening letters. No arrests have been made.

Johnson, former Goddard star, who is now pitting for Laconia, a fast summer ball team, continued his good work that he has been showing all the season when he won over Woonsocket Thursday by a score of 8 to 2.

BASEBALL BRIEFS

The White Sox made their farewell to Boston yesterday when they walloped the Boston team at Fenway park by a score of 11 to 6.

James Thorpe was recalled by the Giants management yesterday from the Milwaukee team in the American association. Thorpe was sent to Milwaukee early in the 1916 campaign and has been going at a fast pace during the past month. He will join the Giants at the end of the season.

George Sisler, the remarkable young member of the Browns, who has been playing around the hot corner for the St. Louis team in the American league during the past few days, is not the only left-hander that has played other than first base in the infield and made a success of it. Back in 1896 fans will recall that Billy Huelin of the Phillies was a portside. When Mike Donlin broke into the game with the Cardinals he threw with his left hand. Ned Hanlon once tried to make a third baseman of Eddie Keeler, who refuses to throw with his right hand. Hal Chase has played second base several times in his career, and always did creditable work with his portside throwing. In the college ranks, the case of Third Baseman Huscamp of Andover and Yale come readily to mind.

Many of the baseball fans are talking about the Brooklyn or the Braves to be the pennant contenders for the 1916 flag, but they overlook the canny Moran and his persistent Phillies. This club has been playing better ball since May, 1916, than they did in May, 1915. All through the present campaign they have been right up in the front ranks and fighting all the way, never out of striking distance of the top. Moran is a feisty leader, and has a better machine than most critics give him credit for. With Alexander in such good shape he will be apt to have the jump on the Braves and Robins when they meet in the crucial series later in the season. The Phillies showed the baseball public last season that they had the stuff when the final sprint came, and that will not count against them when the final sprint comes in September.
